

Contraflow bike lanes allow bicyclists to move in two directions on one-way streets, providing convenient and direct connections between bike routes.

While roads with contraflow bike lanes may look different, the rules for using them don't change!

Whether you drive a car, pedal a bike, or ride a scooter:

Obey the speed limit

Slow down when approaching a crosswalk

Stop for pedestrians

Stay to the right of the double yellow line

Allow through traffic to pass before turning
