The Geographic Information Systems Division of the City of Alexandria is in the early stages of updating its online map-based search tools to be more meaningful, usable, and interactive for the community.

We need your help! Participate in a brief, hands-on exploration of the system prototype to help us in our development of this tool for potential users.

Other opportunities for participation will be made available in the coming weeks. More information on the project can be found by visiting www.xxx.xxx.xxx
