Back-to-School Immunizations - How Can Alexandria Health Department Help?

Dear Colleagues,

The COVID-19 pandemic has created significant challenges for healthcare providers working to further protect our pediatric populations from vaccine-preventable diseases. Since April, when childhood vaccination rates were down 45.7% statewide compared to the same time the previous year, your efforts to maintain safe healthcare delivery spaces and reach out to families to communicate the importance of childhood immunizations have greatly contributed to improving vaccination rates, now down 23% compared to the previous year.

With back-to-school just around the corner, Alexandria Health Department would like to know how we can further support your practices with childhood immunization efforts. We will begin messaging to the City of Alexandria community - through ACPS and other channels - about the return-to-school requirements this upcoming week and will be including information about all community resources.

Whether it is supplementing personal protective equipment (PPE) inventory, serving as a referral resource, disseminating messaging to the community, or any other ideas you have in mind, please send us a message on what would be most impactful to assist you and your staff with this priority effort at:
