

Travelers

He points to every bus, train, and taxi each morning on the way to preschool with the same wide-eyed exuberance as all the days before.
My blue car is his adventure machine, and I am a honored traveler in his world far more wondrous and tremendous than mine.

-Tori Lane, Poet Laureate, City of Alexandria, 2015