A Call to All Washingtonians

"We have an opportunity to demonstrate to the nation what we can do together to make a real change."

– Shaun Guevarra

This is an invitation to ALL Washingtonians.

An invitation to be part of a great story, to be part of a great undertaking as we launch this May, the first privately operated green water taxi system that connects to the public infrastructure in the very heart of America, Washington, D.C.

This is an invitation to showcase the talents and the strengths of all Washingtonians.

We have an opportunity to demonstrate to the nation what we can do together to make a real change. We are not talking about health care, national debt or politics.

Instead we are talking about leaving a lasting impression, a great infrastructure in this nation's capital as we connect people, businesses, transportation and true Washingtonians spirit together.

We have partnership opportunities available to become a part of this great mission of American River Taxi. We will run the first green passenger vessels along the Potomac and Anacostia Rivers and connect the waterways to the public metro system.

By being a part of the vision, you will be part of one of the few things that actually and literally will change the face of Washington, D.C.

So, get ready to join the countless other Washingtonians that have accepted the call to embrace success on the river! Are you ready to be a part of this movement which will acknowledge the great potential of the underused waterway?

And are you ready to climb aboard the first ever hybrid green water taxis that will quietly take all passengers around the Washington D.C area and connect them to current transportation systems without environmental impact?

We believe in the spirit of the Washingtonian, the heart, the soul and the mind, and we offer this invitation to you with open arms to join us, and join the many others in changing the face of D.C.
